LONGEST GAMES: The A's defeated the Angels last night 10-8 in a 19-inning game that lasted 6 hours and 32 minutes...that was the longest game by time in Oakland history, topping the previous mark of 6 hours exactly in a 3-2, 16-inning win at New York August 9, 2002...it was the fourth game of 19 or more innings in Oakland history and the longest since August 10-11, 1972 when the A's defeated Chicago, 5-3 in 19 innings...the A's have now played 29 innings over the last two games...since 1972, the only time the A's played at least that many innings in consecutive games was July 3-4, 1988 when they had back-to-back 16-inning games...the Oakland A's have won all four of their games of 19 or more innings and are 8-1 in games of 17 innings or more...18 of the A's 27 games this year have lasted at least three hours...last night's game upped the average time of game this year from 3:12 to 3:20...A's pitchers threw 300 pitches last night, their most in a game since pitch count data was tracked in 1988 (272 on April 4, 1996 vs. Detroit)...the Angels had 297 pitches...the A's have thrown 4168 pitches this year and have seen 4419, both of which are the most in the majors

WALK-OFFS AND OTHER CLOSE CALLS: The A's recorded their second consecutive "walk-off" win last night and now have three for the season, which is tied with Los Angeles for the most in the American League...in the majors, only Cincinnati has more (4)...logged a Major League leading 14 walk-off wins last year...each of the A's three walk-off wins have come in extra innings, the A's only extra inning games of 2013...the three extra inning wins are tied with Los Angeles for the AL lead...are 3-2 in one-run games and the five one-run decisions are tied for second fewest in the AL...each of the A's one-run wins have come in the last at bat and the A's are 4-0 in games decided in the final at bat.
