Oakland A's Launch Ballpark Survey and Oakland Ballpark Website

OAKLAND, Calif. – The Oakland Athletics have launched oaklandballpark.com to gather community feedback on the team's new ballpark, the club announced today. A link to a ballpark survey is on the site and will also be sent to all A's registered users today to ask for opinions on seating options, ballpark amenities and more.

"The community's feedback is critical to our ballpark's success. We need to understand what our fans, and this community, want from ballpark design, seating or pricing," said Oakland A's President Dave Kaval. "Our new ballpark will be privately financed and we need to ensure that we create an environment that suits our fans and community, while also allowing us to drive franchise growth and bring more championships to Oakland."

Oaklandballpark.com will serve as the hub for all new ballpark-related information. The club plans to announce the site of their new Oakland ballpark this year.
