Dave Stewart to Serve as Special Instructor to Begin A's Camp

The all-time great will work with A's pitchers for the first five days of workouts

MESA, Ariz. – Dave Stewart is slated to serve as a Special Instructor for the Oakland Athletics for the first five days of camp at the team's training facility in Mesa, Ariz.

Stewart, who spent eight seasons with the A's (1986-92, 95) is a three-time World Series champion, including winning the World Series MVP award in 1989. He was also named ALCS MVP twice (1990, 93), was an All-Star in 1989, led the American League in wins in 1987, received the Roberto Clemente Award in 1990, and threw a no-hitter on June 29, 1990 with the A's.

After his playing career, Stewart worked in the front offices of various Major League organizations including the A's and Padres before serving as General Manager of the Arizona Diamondbacks from 2014-16.

Today is the first workout for pitchers and catchers, and the first full-squad workout is on Feb. 19. The A's first game of the spring comes on Feb. 23 at home against the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim.
