Oakland A's to Open Mount Davis for Saturday, Aug. 24 Game Versus the Giants Tickets in the Main Seating Areas are Sold Out

OAKLAND, Calif. – The Oakland A's will open Mount Davis for the Saturday, Aug. 24 game versus the San Francisco Giants, the club announced today. Tickets in the main seating areas of the Oakland Coliseum are sold out for the 6:07 p.m. game. Tickets on Mount Davis are $20 and on sale now at athletics.com/tickets.

"We set a Coliseum attendance record when we opened Mount Davis last season," said Oakland A's President Dave Kaval. "We invite the Green and Gold faithful to come out and join us again this year as we aim to hoist the Bay Bridge Trophy once again."

The Bay Bridge Series, Aug. 24-25, is presented by Gilead Sciences. Most seats in Mount Davis – Sections 335 to 355 – do not have a full view of the deepest areas of the outfield. Fans with Mount Davis tickets will enjoy 50 percent off concessions on Mount Davis. Tickets are now on sale at athletics.com/tickets.
