FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 30, 2019

All fans can grab a $4 beer, $3 hot dog, $10 parking and more during 2019 A's Access Day this Sunday, Aug. 4

OAKLAND, Calif. – The best fans in baseball will receive the best deal in baseball this Sunday, Aug. 4, when the Oakland A's host Access Day during the 1:07 p.m. game versus the St. Louis Cardinals. All fans will receive A's Access member benefits, including 50 percent off concessions, 25 percent off merchandise, and $10 parking.

"Access member benefits are the best in baseball, and we want all fans to experience what it means to be an A's member for one day," said Oakland A's COO Chris Giles.

The concession discount will apply to all of the food and beverage options inside the ballpark, excluding food trucks, catering, and suites. Fans will also pay just $10 parking at all gates.

A's Access for the 2020 season will go on sale on Monday, Aug. 5. The most flexible membership program in sports will now offer even greater flexibility, increased access to the ballpark, and additional benefits in 2020. Members will receive general admission access to the entire ballpark for every regular season home game, a flex or set seat ticket plan, 50 percent off concessions, $10 prepaid parking, and 25 percent off merchandise. Plans start at just $33 a month. For more information, visit athletics.com/access.
