Purchase a 2021 Full Season A's Suite for One Bitcoin Six-person suites for individual games on sale now for $594 for April games

OAKLAND, Calif. – Now through Opening Day, Oakland A's full season suites for the 2021 regular season are available for one Bitcoin. Six-person private suites for individual games are also on sale now for just $594 for select April games.

"We invite our fans to become the first Bitcoin suite holders in sports. We're excited to be one of a handful of teams to accept cryptocurrency for payment and the first to price tickets in crypto instead of US currency. The price of a season suite may fluctuate depending on when it's purchased, which adds to the excitement!" said A's President Dave Kaval. "Suites are the perfect way for groups who want to safely socially distance themselves from other fans to enjoy A's baseball this season."

Current state health guidelines limit general stadium seating to pods of two or four, and suites up to six guests. Suites provide an option for groups larger than four to enjoy an A's game together. All suites include six tickets, a private restroom, and Coliseum snacks.

Until April 1, fans can purchase a full season six-person suite for one Bitcoin. To order a full season suite, and coordinate secure cryptocurrency payment, fans should contact the A's at suites@athletics.com.

Single-games suites start at just $594 for select April games. For more information, and to purchase a suite, visit athletics.com/suites.
