Oakland A's Game on April 19 versus Minnesota Twins Postponed

OAKLAND, Calif. – The Oakland A's game versus the Minnesota Twins scheduled for tomorrow, April 19, has been postponed to allow for continued testing and contact tracing involving members of the Twins organization.

Depending on testing results, the game may be rescheduled as part of a doubleheader on Tuesday, April 20. The A's and Major League Baseball will continue to provide updates as necessary.

Single-game ticket buyers holding tickets for Monday's game will receive an automatic refund (no action needed). A's FlexTix holders will be issued replacement vouchers in their account for use for another A's home game.
