A's 17th Annual Root Beer Float Day Raises $38,460 for JDRF

More than $486,000 has been raised throughout the event's history

OAKLAND, Calif. – The Oakland Athletics raised $38,460 at this evening's 17th Annual Root Beer Float Day. All proceeds benefit the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation.

The A's have raised more than $486,000 for JDRF throughout the event's history. Current and former A's players, broadcasters, various Bay Area TV and radio personalities, and celebrities served root beer floats for two hours before tonight's game. Proceeds were raised through the sale of floats and souvenir mugs, as well as tips given in exchange for autographs and pictures with the celebrity scoopers. Funds raised from tonight's 50/50 raffle and the A's Community Fund silent auction will also benefit JDRF.

Soda for the event was donated by Zevia—the zero-calorie soda—and Whole Foods Market. The ice cream was donated by Dreyer's. Dexcom, a presenting sponsor for this event, was also on site to educate fans on their continuous glucose monitoring (CGM) products and tools for adult and pediatric diabetic patients.
