Henderson Alvarez Has Successful Right Shoulder Surgery

OAKLAND, Calif. – Oakland A's right-handed pitcher Henderson Alvarez had successful surgery on his right shoulder today at the Andrews Institute for Orthopaedics and Sports Medicine in Gulf Breeze, Fla. The surgery was performed by Dr. James Andrews, who performed a bicep tenodesis procedure on Alvarez' right shoulder as well as an excision of a boney exostosis in his shoulder. There is no time table for his return at this time.

Alvarez did not pitch for Oakland in 2016 as he rehabbed from July 28, 2015 shoulder surgery. He went 1-1 with a 4.09 ERA in 11 starts on three separate rehab assignments this year, pitching for Triple-A Nashville, Single-A Stockton and the A's affiliate in the Arizona Rookie League.
